Knocks Off $140,000 Expenses

Local Congressman Gets Bureau Killed

WASHINGTON — Rep. Lionel Van Deerlin, D-San Diego, found some mysterious neighbors last January when he moved into his new office on the fifth floor of the venerable Cannon House Office Building.

An office suite next door was labeled, "Office of the Coordinator of Information." Van Deerlin did some checking.

"I had been in Congress four years, but I had never heard of this particular operation," the Congressman said.

"Among other things, I learned that five of the Office's 10 employees have been earning more than $17,000 a year," he said. "Despite their big pay, they apparently were doing little except scan press releases and news ticker for information that is readily available to Congressmen from other and far more legitimate sources."

Van Deerlin discovered that the primary duty of one $20,000-a-year man on the Coordinator's staff was to monitor a press wire service ticker for news of disasters, then notify Members of the House when calamities occurred in their districts.

"The Coordinator himself has estimated that the sort of disasters this man was looking for only happen about once a week," Van Deerlin said. "Besides, most Congressmen are going to learn immediately of tragedies from the news media in their home areas. So why did we need this high priced middleman?"

Soon, the three-room suite down the hall that houses the Office of the Coordinator of Information will be vacant.

Last week, Van Deerlin joined a majority of his colleagues in voting to order the Coordinator to close up shop by October 1. The Office which was established by the 80th Congress in 1947, was budgeted at $140.00 a year.

"I imagine the fat salaries these people have been getting would look mighty good to most of my constituents," Van Deerlin said.

Raises Asked For School Personnel

The Lemon Grove School District board of trustees moved the meeting to the Golden Ave. school auditorium Monday night to accommodate the expected large turnout of school personnel.

It was salary budget time again and 75 of the school's personnel were on hand.

Mrs. Alma Hogan made a presentation for 112 the classified personnel. She asked an increase of 6.66%, or $27,000 more for next year.

Robert Offord asked for four more steps to the district's 10-step plan for teachers and administrators. This would cost the district $60,000 more next year for 160 personnel.

The budget study is interwoven with the wage increase demands so the board set Monday night as the next period of study of the budget. The budget in its preliminary form, is for $2,372,000.

Monday's meeting will be in the Education Center board room.

Yarn Ball To Open

The Spring Valley Yarn Ball will have its grand opening Saturday, June 10 according to Mrs. Clara Balinger, owner. Located at 3955 Helix ln., the shop will feature a full line of yarns for every purpose.

WARNING — Glue sniffers were warned this week that stores may not sell model glue to persons under 18 years of age. The Sheriff's Department distributed placards with the warning to shopkeepers throughout the county. Here, Deputy L. E. Nash is shown putting up a placard in the window of Broadway Hardware, 7846 Broadway, in Lemon Grove. Shop owner Ernest Southard, giving Deputy Nash a hand, said that his shop does not stock glue with intoxicants in it, but he hung the sign anyway. State Business and Profession Code prohibits the sale of model glue to persons under 18 while County ordinance prohibits possession of glue for intoxication by anyone. The intoxicant, Southard said is toluene.

Here Is Your CIA

The super-secret spy-in-the-washroom-and-everywhere-else, is the Central Intelligence Agency. It was established by the U.S. Congress to do in the enemies of this country by any means, fair or foul acording to a study made recently by the U.S. Press Association.

The CIA decision was made twenty years ago but the operational arm of CIA today is being spotlighted amid questions from sincere Americans as to what actually is going on under the CIA veil of secrecy?

During the two decades since its inception, the American public has logically assumed that the operational arm of the CIA was a hard-hitting and militantly anti-Communist organization, since the only avowed enemies of this country are the Communists.

This has proved to be a tragic misconception, reports the U.S. Press. The truth is that the operational arm of the CIA has been the haven for more left of center dreamers, social climbers, draft-dodgers, do-gooders, one-worlders and anti-anti-Communists than any other single department or agency in Washington. The reasons are simple: first, the names and histories of CIA employes are secret; a man or woman can work in total anonymity and secrecy in the CIA, whereas that same man or woman would be identified, watched and exposed in the press for similar views or decisions in any other governmental agency. Second: the man who headed the operational arm of the CIA for the first 10 years of its existence, the late Frank Wisner, was a vigorous ultra-liberal, hand-picked by General George C. Marshall. Wisner's most intimate friendship was with Philip Graham, publisher of the Washington Post. The Post is notably liberal.

Frank Wisner survived four changes of Director of the CIA — Admiral Souers, Admiral Hillenkoetter, General Smith and Allen Dulles. He surrounded himself with men who thought as he did and who were his willing tools. Those who did not share in his ultra-liberal views simply did not rise to the policy or decision-making level and, as you'd expect, competent types and dissenters quickly resigned from the CIA.

Lest there be those who think this is an exaggeration, here is what Oceanside Publisher Thomas W. Braden, assistant to Allen Dulles wrote in the May 20 issue of Saturday Evening Post: "He had one of those purposely obscure CIA titles: Director of Policy Coordination. But everyone knew that he had run CIA since the death of the wartime OSS, run it through a succession of rabbit warrens hidden in the bureaucracy of the State Department, run it when nobody but Frank Wisner cared whether the country had an intelligence service . . ."

It must be understood that there are two CIA's.. One is essentially a big "news service," which collects, asseses, digests and reports intelligence to the executive branch. That function is the responsibility of the director, presently Richard Helms. The other CIA is the operational arm. In practice, it developed as an esentialy independent agency, its personnel selected and its secret policies guided and implemnted by Frank Wisner.

The guidelines for CIA operations survived Wisner because the men he selected, trained and promoted, survived him.

And that is why the CIA scandals are in the headlines today.

A Chicken Neck For Mother

Every day is Mothers Day as far as we're concerned. There are those who put Mother away for 12 months each year — emerging only when newspapers remind that Mother is still alive and as lovable as ever.

Even Mothers whose children love them dearly often get remembrances in relation to the taste and affluence of the child. That condition is remindful of the TV story told many years ago of a son whose conscience was bothering him severely.

He had failed to visit his mother in many years although he had become extremely wealthy. To set his mind at ease, he decided to acquire the most expensive gift in the world, and send it to his mother, and follow this up with a visit.

He learned that a wild bird of the condor family was extinct except for one bird. That made it very valuable. It was somewhere in Siberia. The Russian government charged him a million dollars to search for and take the bird. He spent hundreds of thousands more dollars for Siberian huntsmen before the rare bird was captured. He insured it for two million dollars and sent it home.

A couple of days after the bird arrived, the son rang his mother's door bell. She was delighted to see him.

"How did you like the bird I sent?" the son asked pridefully.

"It was delicious," she answered.

With that thought used up and pushed aside, we recall an editorial which ran in the St. Augustine Record and Times Union on a recent Mothers Day. The clip was given to us by Bob Greggs, local furniture dealer.

The article, an editorial, read:

"How different Mothers are from other folks! Our Mother didn't care anything about going around. She'd rather stay at home and work. She was never so happy as when cleaning up the house and bathing babies and washing dishes and baking cakes in the hot old kitchen — cakes for the rest of us to eat. When the family went riding, if there wasn't enough room for everyone (and there never was) Mother didn't go. She'd rather stay at home anyhow. Somebody had to stay home.

"Now that she's gone, and we've grown up to know a little more than we used to, the accusing truth bobs up. Most certainly she would have enjoyed the rides with the rest; she found no physical refreshment in bending over the hot oven baking cakes for us to eat if they were good— or turn up our noses at them if they weren't; nor did washing dishes and bathing babies and cleaning up the house rest her tired body. She was human. But she was unselfish. She'd rather see us enjoy a good time than to have a little fun herself; she'd rather do the hard hot work than watch any of the rest of us do it. Doing for others was HER pleasure. What a Mother she was!

"We remember too, how we couldn't under stand why Mother preferred the neck of the chicken to any other part, because we didn't like the neck and none of the rest of the children seemed to care for the neck. But that was what mother always took for herself. We know why now. The

County Assessor Guilty On Drunk Driver Hit And Run Charge

San Diego County Assessor Eldon Charles Williams, 52, has pleaded guilty to misdemeanor drunken driving and hit and run driving in El Cajon June 1. Williams was fined $289 and placed on three years probation.

Williams appeared in Municipal Court Monday and asked if he could go to court and dispose of the case.

The deputy district attorney, Gilbert Smith, agreed and the necessary documents were drawn up. Williams waived an attorney and pleaded guilty.

Terms of the probation imposed by Judge Donald W. Smith are that Williams is not to drink and drive during the three year period.

Williams was arrested early Saturday morning several miles from the scene of an accident in front of 197 Southern rd., El Cajon. Police described damage to the parked automobile struck by Williams as moderate.

Williams lives at 6655 Crampton ct., San Diego.

Boney Asks Sups To Cut County Budget $3 Million

Supervisor Henry A. Boney, vice chairman of the Board of Supervisors, ugred more than 13 million in cuts in the proposed County Budget.

Boney, in a letter addressed to the Board of Supervisors, suggested that 20 items totaling $3,195,827.00 be deleted from the Budget. Items included were land acquisition, air conditioning and alterations for some County facilities, certain planning and welfare programs and funds for various community organizations.

The cuts ranged from $1,270 for office equipment to $400,000 for a new roof for the County Administration Center.

Air conditioning for the Court House at $125,000 and Office alteration at $248,050 would also be eliminated.

Even the almost untouchable welfare department would suffer a loss—slight though it is. $27,418 would be chopped off the homemaker program.

Boney said many of the items listed were requested by "spethis year a tax rate increase cial interests" and that "the interests of the general County property taxpayer must be put ahead of all others." Boney went on to point out that "with the proposed Budget as it stands, it will be virtually impossible to provide the services and programs requested and not materially increase the (County) tax rate. However, Boney said that in view of the increase in assessments this year a tax rate increase might be avoided "if sufficient reductions are made in the proposed Budget."

Perhaps most surprising in Boney's message to the Board was a suggestion that the County consider the establishment of a "halfway house" for female inmates of the County Jail. This would relieve crowded conditions in the downtown jail and might alleviate the immediate need for a $1½ million North County Jail.

Boney's suggested cuts will be discussed when the Board of Supervisors hold their public Budget hearings on June 14.

Juveniles Wreck Grove Key Shop

Three youths 14, 11 and 10 broke into the Grove Key Shop, 2251 Imperial, June 4 at 2:00 p.m. The three made a shambles of the business establishment and were caught by the owner, Robert Kilik, in the process.

The three scaled a seven foot fence, pried open the back door of the trailer business and proceeded to tear up the business machines, stock, and other furnishings.

L.G. CoC Eyes Town Council

The Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce Tuesday viewed the possibility of setting up a town council.

President Bob Browne said he would form a three-man committee to study the feasibility of circulating petitions among residents to see what homeowner's thought of the idea.

If the plan is successful, Browne said, it would permit the chamber to take of chamber business and the council could take care of community housekeeping matters.

Citrus Whitefly Spreads Into LG-SV Area

The Citrus Whitefly danger has spread from National City and San Diego into Lemon Grove and Spring Valley. The Department of Agriculture is making a determined effort to eradicate the pest by spraying.

The Lemon Grove-Spring Valley area has been placed under quarantine. It is now illegal to movie the below listed plants out of the area.

All species and varieties of citrus are under quarantine, such as citron, grapefruit, lemon, lime, orange, pummelo, tangerine, etc.

Included in the quarantine are such closely related plants as Baelfruit, Cherry-orange or African cherry-orange, Indian wood apple, Kumquat, Chalcas; Murraea, Orange jessamine, Trifoliate-orange, Box-orange, Chaetospermum, Tabog, and Limeberry.

The following other genera and species: Tree of Heaven, Mexican Orange, Persimmon, Gardena or Cape Jasmine, Jasmine, Privet, China berry, Osmanthus, Carolina Cherry-laurel, Chinese soapberry, Common Lilac and Viburnum.

Persons desiring certificates to move host plants from the area under quarantine should contact the County Agricultural Commissioner's Office, 5555 Overland ave. Bldg. 3, San Diego, or telephone 278-9200, extension 491 for further information.

Spraying crews are now working the Lemon Grove-Spring Valley area. This spraying is done at no cost to the individual property owner.

This tiny insect is most noticeable in two forms. First the nymphs (and pupae) live and grow fastened to the undersides of leaves of their favorite hosts. These are the tiny immature stages. A full grown whitefly nymph is about 1 x 1¼ millimeters in size, or changed to inches, this is 1/20 of an inch long and 1/25 of an inch wide. The nymph is flat, elliptical in outline, and transparent. Nymphs are difficult to see unless there are many.

Whitefly pupae are also about 1/20 of an inch long, and of the same shape as the nymphs, but somewhat more noticeable by being less transparent. Adult whiteflies are about 1/25 of an inch long and are a brilliant white, being covered with white powdery wax. They deposit this white wax where they rest on leaves.

They have a weak hovering flight and are fairly conspicuous when in the air.

Citrus whitefly is of economic importance because it develops large populations on orange and related citrus trees, and weakens the tree by extracting sugar and depositing this sugar on the foliage in the form of honeydew. Black smut fungus then grows on this honeydew, further weakening the tree and causing it to become filthy in appearance. This reduces fruit size and spoils flavor.

There are usually two generations of the fly each year, although three generations may develop under favorable circumstances. Control of this pest is accomplished by a spray of light medium oil emulsion.

Various kinds of citrus, and privet and gardenia, are favored hosts of the citrus whitefly. If you find any of these insects, please notify your County Agricultural Commissioner imediately or report the finding to the Bureau of Entomology, California Department of Agriculture, Sacramento.

Trash Disposal Costs To Rise Here July 1

Your trash and garbage problem unloved and unwanted as it is will still be with you—but now it will come with a greater financial burden.

Everybody who uses the County dumps—opps, sanitary fill, will be paying more if he uses a trash disposal service or a minimum of 25c a trip if he delivers it in person. The dump people insist that it be called "sanitary fill."

Beginning July 1, an admission fee, sort of, will be charged at the seven dumps in San Diego County.

The County had hired 14 "Disposal Fee Collectors" who will snatch your quarters — if you are using the family passenger car or minature station wagon. It'll cost 75c if you load your disposables in a standard station wagon or pick-up truck. Full sized trucks will have to pay $2 and professional trash collectors will pay $2.50 to $5 a trip.

The new fee schedule will raise $627,000 anunally. It costs the Couty $745,358 a year to run the dumps. Prior to this year the entire load was on the property tax bill.

Fourteen fee collectors will be used to run the dumps on a 7:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. basis seven days a week. The top wage will be $519 a month — or about $10,000 a year for collectors. It will narrow the gap on County cost by about $400,000 a year according to Jerry Wilson, assistant director of county public works.

"It puts the expense on those who use it," Wilson said.

Frank Thomas, who operates the local trash disposal service said he will raise his fees to accommodate the increase. Local residents now pay $2 monthly for his collection service. It will be raised to $2.75 after July 1 he said. Prior to July 1, disposal service firms had been paying about $3 a month a truck.

WHAT IS PRAYER?

Prayer involves a recognition of our dependence upon God. The best of good works performed without any consideration of God have nothing to do with prayer. They are not even religious. They are purely humanitarian transactions between man and man with God omitted.

Christian Scientists' Call Goes In Boston For World Expansion

Christian Scientists, gathered from around the world for the Church's Annual Meeting in Boston this week, heard a call for sharply expanded outreach to the world and the community.

"Christ Jesus showed his deep involvement with the world of his day," the Christian Science Board of Directors reminded the audience.

Edwin D. Canham, editor in chief of The Christian Science Monitor and retiring president of the denomination, described a "period of unprecedented ferment in the world's religious thought." Each individual has a "mission in the marketplace of human thought and experience," he said.

Mrs. Beatrice Thayer Pittman, who was elected president for the coming year, described Christian Scientists as "interested in good government, in righteous laws, in bettering the lot of all men. We are devoted to an adequate opportunity for everyone."

Helix High's Highland Notes

by Shauna McGregor

"Cast Your Fate to the Stars" was the theme for our Senior Prom which was held at the Stardust Ballroom last Friday night. Highland lads and lasses and their dates all had a really great time dancing to the music of Marsh and the Esquires.

The After-Prom also proved to be exciting for participating seniors. There was bowling, pool, dancing and a buffet at the University Lanes. The Estremos provided the music.

Our yearbooks, or Tartans were distributed today. Seniors received theirs this morning while underclassmen had to wait until after school. They look like, beautiful annuals!

Our first two finals will be tomorrow. They are each two hours long so we'll be getting out of school at noon. The other four finals will come Monday and Tuesday. It'll be the last time for us seniors but as the old cliche goes, all good things must come to an end!

Baccalaureate, a non-denominational religious service for graduating seniors, will be held Sunday in the Helix Gymnasium. Father Robert Pinta from the St. John of the Cross Catholic Church will address us and our parents in what promises to be an inspirational service.

Ear-ring Is Liability In LG Street Fight

John Ray Kindred, 19, and Richard Glenn Tootle, 20, were arrested for fighting in the street Sunday. The fight took place in front of Bill's Coffee shop, Golden and Imperial.

Kindred suffered a bloody ear, according to Sheriff's deputies, when his ear-ring was pulled from his pierced ear. At the time of arrest, one of his sandals was missing. He was said to have been drinking.

Tootle suffered a busted lip and a torn shirt.

The fight started when one of the two questioned the other as to his manhood. The question, evidently, has not been resolved.

Frank Berger, Spring Valley fire chief and a past president of the Spring Valley Kiwanis Club, told club members May 31 that seven sub-committees have been appointed as an outgrowth of the recent juvenile crimes meeting in the S.V. Vischer Root, Lt. Governor of Kiwanis Division 31, was one of two guest speakers at the May 31 breakfast-meeting on June 31 in Spring Valley. He stressed the importance of sending delegates to the International Kiwanis Convention, to be held in Houston, Tex., June 25-29. He also urged a big turnout at the annual Kiwanis picnic and election of a Lt. Governor, to be held at Pine Valley, Aug. 13. Lt. DECA WINNERS — A group of local business people and students were honored recently at a banquet at Hotel del Coronado for participating in Distributive Education Clubs of America (DECA). DECA sponsors student-business relationship so that the private enterprise system might better thrive.
Among those participating in the program (left to right) are: Warren Bellows, teacher-coordinator of DECA, a Mt. Miguel teacher; Bill Coulter, a student of Spring Valley; Clarence W. Meyers, of the Merchants Credit Association, S.D., an employer; Priscilla Cordray, of Lemon Grove, a student and chapter president of DECA; Dennis Wagner, of Lemon Grove, a student; Max Goodwin, of Lemon Grove, an employer, and Sadie Marder, of Lemon Gorve, an employer. Mrs. Marder also accepted honorary life membership in DECA in the name of her deceased husband.
The students in the photo are among those who were to have attended a DECA national convention in Chicago earlier this year but did not because funds were not made available.

LM-SV School Board Hears Parent's Protest

The La Mesa-Spring Valley board heard protests from several parents regarding their children being transferred from Lemon Avenue Elementary School to Spring Valley Elementary Monday night. The transfer has not been in effect as of yet, but is contingent on a boundary change, which will be located on the north side of Tropico dr., just north of Spring Valley. No action was taken on the issue Monday night, but it is expected there will be "fireworks" at the Monday, June 19 meeting. Also it was brought out that there is an overload condition at Spring Valley Junior High School and that Parkway Junior High School needs to be built up. A proposal has been made to have students in the Spring Valley area transported to Parkway. That also will be discussed later.

To The Outside World

by Kathy Powell

One week from today seniors all over the Grossmont district will be attending the final services of their respective high schools: graduation. When they are finished, they will no longer be a part of the secondary school system; they will have graduated into what I have termed "the outside world."

What kind of an outer world will they find? Certainly many of them have had jobs and have come in contact with American society in one way or another, but when they leave high school that final time, there's no turning back. The time has come to face the future.

But the task won't be easy for many of the young men and women. They'll find that certain responsibilities are demanded of them which they can no longer take to a counselor or a diary. The transition strength, but it will also need will call for maturity and some help.

For that help we, the entire graduating class of 1967, ask you the members of that outside world—to bear with us and perhaps give us the extra boost that we need. Only you know and understand what it is to be out in a world of business and co-existence with your neighbor. Are you willing to take a share in our tomorrow? We hope so because we want very much to share that future with you. The only worthwhile objects ever achieved have been the result of mutual cooperation.

If you'll give the chance, we'll try never to let you down.

Del Rey Morro Ready To Open

More than 400 VIPs, city and county offiicals, and newsmen were pre-view guests at Cafe del Rey Morro Monday evening.

Cafe de Rey Morro is in the House of Hospitality in Balboa Park and will be officially opened to the public June 18 by Henry Goldy and Jack Cruse. The pair once operated Michael's Cafe in Lemon Grove. They now operate the Bronze Room in La Mesa, and the Alladin Catering Service. They said the new operation will represent a quarter of a million dollars in equipment and decorations by opening time.

Four firms of interior decorators were commissioned for the remodeling job at the House of Hospitality. One decorated each of the four dining rooms Cafe del Rey Morro encompasses. The rooms are the Gold Room, the Ballroom, Cafe del Rey Morro and Cafe del Rey Morro terrace.

The four rooms will seat approximately 5,000 persons and the banquet rooms have been booked for almost every evening for the rest of the year, Goldy said.

Grossmont Trustees Ask For $6-Million

Grossmont high school district trustees meeting Monday night agreed to ask voters to approve a $6-million bond issue to meet district needs for a period covering the next five to six years.

One new high school will be included in the bond issue, primarily due to Mt. Miguel's expansion, however the actual planning will not be due to begin for another year or two. Construction would be up to five years away.

The five member board of education also approved plans for 11 of 13 students expelled in different actions to return to school under strict probationary conditions. The students were expelled for using or possessing marijuana. Some of these students are currently attending the district's continuation high school.

Superintendent John T. Warburton sought the October election after voters failed to give a $2-million bond issue the okay last April.

Warburton said $5,000 will be raised by private sources for the bond issue campaign to take the information on the need to the voters. The special election will cost $19,000.

way we could make the chicken go around and not have one of us feel mean and selfish was for her to take the neck, but we didn't wake up until after she had gone to Heaven.

"Look here, Son. Is YOUR Mother seating any chicken necks to give you the best things in life? You bet she is. Her whole life has ben spent sacrificing for you. She thinks you're perfect and she won't let anybody say you are not. She loves you; and if you never notice her again as long as she lives, she'll die loving her boy. Now, you go to her today and put your arms around her neck and kiss her lots and lots of times and tell her how much you owe her for all she's done for you and how much you love her just because she is what she is — the most wonderful thing in the world — Your Mother."

More Riots And Violence Due

By Ken Smith

America has ben warned. There will be internal strife this summer. Targets have been picked and major cities will see rioting and bloodshed in the name of civil protest.

San Diego has already tasted the bitterness of a riot in its downtown section. Two people were shot in one weekend. No one was killed, we were lucky.

Acording to the director of the FBI, J. Edgar Hoover, more is to come this summer. It is the opinion of this law enforcement head that professional rabblerousers should not be tolerated. In a recently published bulletin, Hoover said, '. . . police officials, as well as the general public, are becoming weary of persons who, for self-aggradizement and monetary gain, exploit noble causes and agitate peaceful groups into rioting mobs. Some so-called leaders seem to 'blow hot and cold with the same breath.' Their preachments are beginning to have a hollow ring. They claim to support nonviolence, but do they? For instance, to publicly pinpoint certain cities where riots and violence may occur seems to be inconsistent with the doctrine of nonviolence. Rather, it is more like an open invitation to hotheads and rabble rousers in those areas to move into action on cue. It puts them on notice that that are expected to riot. Where are the reason and judgment in this type of leadership?"

According to Hoover, the American public must ". . . make it abundantly clear that mobs, riots, and senseless destruction will not be tolerated."

Hoover's message ended with a quote from Lincoln, "There is no grievance that is a fit subject of redress by mob law."

The solution is a simple thing, but the over-lenient courts must stand firm in solving that problem. Instigating a riot is a crime, punishable by imprisonment. The breaking of windows and looting is a crime, also punishable. The assaulting of private citizens and law enforcement officials is a crime.

The elements that would break the law and abuse the rights of assembly and demonstration must not only be arrested, but punished to the full extent of the law. Only in this manner, by making the law an instrument of protection for all citizens, can the senseless violence and destruction be contained.

The state and federal governments have ample space in their prisons to handle the leadership of the rioting, burning, looting mobs. The city jails and county institutions have space, or can make space available,to handle the remainder of the offenders. It should be done, to protect all citizens.

Grossmont Premiers

Breaking with tradition, the Grossmont College Photography Department will screen a student-produced 35-minute sound motion picture this semester instead of distributing the usual photo year book. Titled "MIGMA-67," the film is scheduled for a public premier at 8:00 p.m., Saturday, June 3, in the Fine Arts Lecture Hall. The film will include both color and black and white footage as well as direct dialogue, narration, and background music on a stereophonic sound track.

According to student director and chief cameraman, Dennis Hulmes, 7543 Sturgess St., La Mesa, the film is an informal documentary investigating the real reasons for students attending Grossmont College. Approximately 6000 feet of film was exposed over a period of three months in producing the documentary. Editing reduced the finished film to a half-hour 1400-foot movie.

Termed a 100-percent student project by Hulmes, the film was produced with professional equipment in a professional manner, using separate crews for the various phases. In commenting on the film, Hulmes said, "We consider this film a prototype for next year's project which will result in an hour-long movie which will be completely produced and processed by students in our new photography laboratory. The production of next year's movie will be spread over the entire year with the film ready for screening in June, 1968."

Assisting Hulmes in producing the film was Greg Lawson, El Cajon, assistant director; John Dixon, La Mesa, key grip; Charley Boon, El Cajon, electrician; Kent Anderson, La Mesa, sound engineer; Paul Louer and Jim Ney, Lemon Grove, cameramen; Don Askew, Spring Valley, Mark Pettigrew, La Mesa and Fred Wallhauser, Lemon Grove, still photographers; Barbara McCready and Lynn Berube, La Mesa, continuity;

Hollywood Youth Dubbed 'Matador' In Tijuana Ring

Ken Smith

The unusual dream of a Hollywood youth, Robert Ryan, will be fulfilled Sunday when the 20-year-old becomes a matador at the downtown El Toreo bullring in Tijuana.

From the time he witnessed his first bullfight in Tijuana seven years past, Ryan dreamed of facing the bulls. Ryan studied in Hollywood under extorero Rafael Larrea, spent his vacations in Mexico study under Pepe Ortiz.

At last, the urge conquered and Ryan left high school to follow the path of deprivation that is the lot of most aspiring bullfighters.

His first performance came five years ago, and a year later he began to feel success in the bullrings of Spain. In Mexico City opporuntiy knocked as Ryan made three consecutive appearances in Plaza Mexico, the world's largest arena. It was this triumph that earned him his promotion to the top rank in the world of the bullfighters.

Ryan and the matadors appearing with him will face six bulls from Coaxamalucan breeding ranch. The bulls make up a lot intended for Mexico City, but were sent to Tijuana for the special occasion.

Four sluggers have made their way into the Sky Grove Pony League limelight. Far in front is Lido's Tom Wyer with 4 home runs. The Lions have a promising slugger in Sal Giacinto with 2 to his credit, but Alan John drew a pair with Steve Midos and John Clark, both with 2 homers each.

The scores for May 21-27 showed the Lidos leading by tiping Alan Jopn five runs on the 21st and slipping by the L.G. Merchants by 4 points the next day.

The Lions came up with a 2 to 1 average, taking Cont. Supply on the 21st, VFW on the 25th, then letting one slip by to Alan John on the 27th.

Alan John also boasted a 2-1 over the week. They threw the game to the powerhouse Lidos, but sliped by the Lions and tiped the Lomita Merchants.

Dairy Mart could be the dark horse in the league, winning over Cont. Supply and the Lomita Merchants 6-3 and 6-4.

Lidos For Ahead In Sky Grove League

The Sky Grove Pony League's Lidos lead the league with an 11-1 record, taking last weeks game against Cont. Supply 13-1 in a walk, shoving down Lomita Merchants 11-7 and slipping by VFW 3-2.

Hardison's Telespanish

The verb "ir" (to go) is different from most of the other Spanish verbs. It has only two letters. Also, it is a little more difficult to pronounce. Correct pronunciation of this word begins with "eeh" and is closed with a muted "rrh" which produces the sound "EEH-rrh."

When we wish to say "I want to go." (Yo deseo ir.), the "ir" is said to be in the infinitive form. The infinitive form is constructed by placing the word "to" in front of English verbs. The infinitive form in Spanish is constructed by ending the verb in "ar", "er", or "ir."

The words "lavar" (to wash) and "beber" (to drink) are exmaples of infintives in Spanish. Note that "lavar" and "beber" are accented on the last syllable. This means that the last part of the word is said louder than the first. Thus, "lavar" would be pronounced 'lah-VAHR" and "beber" pronounced "beh-BEHR." The word stress is placed on the last syllable for all Spanish verbs in the infinitive form.

Some of the words in today's practice expressions below are in the infinitive form. See if you can tell which ones they are. Read over the expressions and pronounce them from the phonetic guide provided. Then practice saying them with the help of the two-minute recorded voice when you dial 276-2762.

19-year-olds First Says New Draft System

The draft system has long been a mis-understood system to many, especially to those in its potential graps. President Johnson will soon issue a directive to the Selective Service to change the present method of drafting.

Basically, the system now in force is to draft from age 26 down. This system has been found to be detrimental to the interest of the draftee, business, the nation and to the armed forces. In the coming years, the system will be reversed. The 19-year-old will be the man in the immediate reaches of the draft.

The President has announced his intention of putting into effect the FAIR (Fair and Impartial Random) system to work like this: At age 18 a youth would be examined to determine his physical and mental eligibility, then all eligible men reaching 19 before a designated date would be placed in a selection pool.

The FAIR system would then determine their order of call. They would be selected in that order of call, for induction at age 19, to fill draft calls placed by the Department of Defense.

The young men not drafted during this period would drop to a less vulnerable position on the list with the entry of the next year's group of eligible men into the selection pool.

All men will retain their vulnerability to the draft, in diminishing order by age group up to 26, in the event of a national emergency. Those who had received deferments would continue liable, as at present, until their 35th birthday.

According to Johnson, this system, giving young men a clear indication of a likelihood of being drafted, in conjunction with the "youngest first" order of call, will further reduce uncertainty of the planning of futures and careers.

This system, according to the Presidential directive will be in force by January 1969.

● It can do 130 . . . for 24 straight hours. Your car can't.
● It can corner at angles your car can't cut. And stop at speeds your car can't muster.
● And if you're wondering why any company in its right mind would make a tire for a Ford or Chevy to GT Ferrari tolerances, we'll tell you.
● We think a tire must be able to take everything a car can dish out. And then some.
● We think that when you're doing 60 all day on a sizzling blacktop or swinging around some rainslicked hairpin turn, your tires should be more than equal to it.
● So when we make the Cinturato CN 72, we go the only way you can when you want a tire to be that good. Overboard.
● While others are making American car radial ply tires with two plies, we use three. While others depend on tubes in their radial ply tires, we make ours tubeless. We've even moved the whitewall closer to the rim so the curb doesn't scrape it.
● The result of all our sweat and tears is a tire rugged enough to last a good 45,000 miles.
● And though you have to pay at least $40 for a CN 72 and perhaps as much as $54, it's worth it.

● It means your life is riding on your tires.

Buy Bonds where you work.

Sometimes it seems the job is 50% walking, 50% waiting, and 50% fighting. It's tough, tiring work. But these brave men believe in it. A majority of our servicemen overseas are helping to pay the bill for freedom through regular purchase of U.S. Savings Bonds. Would you like to show these men their sacrifice is appreciated? You do it—and you walk a bit taller —when you buy Bonds where you bank or join the Payroll Savings Plan where you work.

U.S. Savings Bonds

Bond facts: Savings Bonds pay you back $4 for every $3 at maturity in only seven years . . . are replaced free if lost, destroyed or stolen . . . have special tax advantages . . . can be redeemed whenever the need arises.

Dear Editor:

Did you know a welfare recipient can live on your property without paying rent and you must pay his utilities' bills regardless? Did you know there is almost no way of getting relief from this, or from severe damage the might do to your property?

In one of my rentals a tenant on welfare did more than $1,000 in damage, including the painting of swastikas on the building. She let the place become filled with utter filth entertained Iron Horsemen (kissing cousins of Hell's Angels), hired a 15 year old pregnant unmarried baby sitter to watch her five children aged 5 months to 5 years while she ran around day and night. Her husband is in jail on a wife-beating charge and he'll be there for a year.

The welfare people told me the money they gave her could be used for anything she pleased although some of it was supposed to be used to pay rent. But it didn't please her to pay the rent and she didn't.

The welfare people say she relinquishes none of her Constitutional rights just because she's on welfare—she can use the money for whatever she chooses.

I asked the Sheriff's department to get her off my property but they couldn't because I couldn't prove that she was engaged in unlawful activity. They said the burden of proof would be on me if I wanted to charge that she was living with the Iron Horsemen.

I would have to make such charges through the County Legal Division. This group advised me to get a court order to get her out. I was able to get an eviction notice but that didn't get her out.

The next step would have been to get another lawyer who would ask the court for an Immediate Quit Possession order. I would have to show that the non-payment was making me destitute. I would also have to acknowledge there would be no restribution. Welfare doesn't pay damages or back rent. It also meant I would have to put up $20 with the Sheriff's notice to move her belongings to her new address. If she found no place to go, I would have to find a place for her.

Meanwhile, I would have to pay all the utilities regardless of the rent. The Board of Health requires it. But the Board of Health wasn't interested in the fact that the children were living in unbelievable filth. Should I decide not to pay the utilities' bills, the t... aid at taxpayers' expense, and sue me.

I reported that the tenant was neglecting her children and contributing to the delinquency of a minor. The charges were turned over to the Probation Department but nothing happened. The Sheriff's hands are tied. He can do nothing. He can't even permit me to accompany him onto my property even while the damage was continuing. Finally, she decided to move. She got help with her moving from the Public Works Department. They moved her because of the severe financial loss I had suffered from one of the County's welfare recipients.

Up to now my expenses with this one welfare recipient has been more than $1,20 clean-up and repair bills.

My sympathy goes out to the new landlord, whoever he might be. I wonder how much it's going to cost him?

I also wonder if taxpayers know how their money is being squandered by recipients who use it for wasteful purposes?

I mu t ask you not to use y name nor address for fear f reprisals. Since I do think his is a subject which shou d e brought to public attention want to write about it.

It concern integration in a ay. At least it concerns white nd black.

You no doubt have heard, as e all have, many Negroes omplain we object to their moving into a good establish-d, well kept up neighborhood. Ve have mentioned that they o not keep up their homes, ounds, animals and children s the surrounding neighbors. The reply always is that hen they do move into a od neighborhood, they keep appearances and are as ean and neat as their neighors.

I hope some Negro families s well as white ones see this nd read it. Maybe they could elp.

I am referring to a particu r family on our street. When ey moved in three or four ears ago, no one panicked here was talk, of course ome with Southern learnings bjected violently, but no one stracized them. They were ac epted and soon all was serene ice more.

Right now their front yard nd most of the outside of eir house, is a disgrace. Weeds, litter, peeling paint etc. They do not cau e trouble, heir small children are quiet nd not pests, but their yard n particular, is the talk of the eighborshood. Just what can ne do in such a case? If a hite neighbor would say omething you know what the eactions would be. Since re not another colored mily around, they can't say thing even if they would. The only way out I could nally see was to write this er and hope that someone uld see who could do someing about it. Such condiions downgrade the Negro's use and make for resentents.

Sincerely,

Aerosol Spray Device Saves Vietnam Wounded

A new medical treatment to stop internal bleeding, often the cause of death following serious injury, has been successfully employed to save the lives of wounded GIs in Vietnam.

The new technique, as reported in Medical World News Magazine, was developed by scientists using research animals at Washington, D.C.'s Walter Reed Institute of Research. It consists of an aerosol spray which almost immediately stops bleeding of an internal organ. The spray substance, N-butyl cyanoacrylate, is now being used as an emergency measure in Vietnam when surgical methods cannot control hemorrhaging.

It was first tried successfully in the repair of liver lacerations in 70 experimental dogs. After follow-up tests revealed no ill effects in the animals, a small supply was shipped to a team of battlefield surgeons.

N-butyl cyanoacrylate has been used thus far on four wounded GIs doctors considered beyond hope without the emergency measure. Three of the four survived with no serious complications. The fourth had been in shock too long before he arrived at the field hospital.

The spray works by forming a crust on the wound which stops the bleeding. The substance is later absorbed during healing, apparently without complications.

According to the National Society for Medical Research, the new treatment offers hope for general use in controlling internal bleeding. For instance, where surgeons must now attempt to repair the internal wounds of accident victims by the tediously slow method of suturing the lacerations, the aerosol spray, with its rapid action, could save lives now lost.
